

Redhill Primary Academy

Whistleblowing Policy and Procedure

Signed

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads 'S. Plant' with a long horizontal stroke extending to the right.

Ms S Plant, Chair of Governors

Prepared by: Claire Whiting

Date: September 2024

Commitment to review

This policy will be flexible to change and will be reviewed on an ongoing basis to reflect where there are any changes in government legislation or any changes in the duty of statutory agencies. If it is not appropriate to refine the policy during the year, then this will be done as a matter of course on a yearly basis by a named person responsible below, who shall be accountable for that action.

These procedures should be read in conjunction with Telford & Wrekin Council's Speak Up (Whistleblowing) Policy and our school's Child Protection & Safeguarding Policy. Safeguarding concerns, or allegations against staff (including supply staff and volunteers) will be dealt with in accordance with Keeping Children Safe in Education 2024.

Summary & Aims

This policy and procedure sets out the procedure to protect staff members who report colleagues or governors they believe are doing something wrong or illegal, or who are neglecting their duties. This procedure has a key role to play in safeguarding children.

Working Together to Safeguard Children 2018 says 'organisations and agencies should have in place arrangements that reflect the importance of safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children, including: ... clear whistleblowing procedures, which reflect the principles in Sir Robert Francis' Freedom to Speak Up Review and are suitably referenced in staff training and codes of conduct, and a culture that enables issues about safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children to be addressed.'

As employees are often the first to realise that there may be something wrong within the school, it is important that they feel able to express their concerns without fear of harassment or victimisation. Otherwise they may find it easier to ignore the concern rather than report it. The Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998 recognises this fact and is designed to protect employees, who make certain disclosures of information in 'the public interest', from detriment and/or dismissal. This policy and procedure builds on the provisions of the Act.

Principles of whistleblowing (with reference to Sir Robert's Francis' Freedom to Speak Up review report)

At the Academy we promote a culture of safety. We aim to develop practice as we learn and reflect. It is our aim for concerns to be raised, including whistleblowing in accordance with our policies and procedures. We aim to promote an Academy culture that is free from bullying between adults. Our senior leadership team will be visible to all staff, volunteers and visitors to help assist anyone who needs to raise a concern to do so without barriers. Our nominated governor will also be known to staff and volunteers. Visitors will be informed of their name and contact details as part of our visitor's procedures.

At the Academy we value those who raise concerns and contribute to our reflective practice. Senior leaders and governors will take all opportunities to reflect on practice at leadership and governor meetings. This will be a regular agenda item at DSL meetings. We welcome all concerns to be raised either informally or formally through the steps set out below. This will enable us to swiftly and thoroughly find a resolution to concerns. All concerns will be dealt with promptly and swiftly by the Headteacher and/or nominated governor. While investigating any concerns they will remain proportionate and not lay blame on others. If necessary, this may involve mediation and/or dispute resolution. It may also be necessary to involve a senior officer within the TTMAT.

At the Academy we understand the need for these measures to support good practice. We will ensure those who raise concerns receive the necessary support they need, such as support from a member of the senior leadership team, Local Governing Board, or access to the employee well-being service. All staff, including supply staff and volunteers will receive training about how to raise concerns and how they will be handled as part of their induction. Those responsible for handling concerns must also ensure they have the relevant knowledge and skills to do so.

It is our aim at the Academy that the handling of these concerns is done so in a transparent and accountable process. If necessary, the Headteacher and/or nominated governor may seek an external review of the concern or report it themselves to the local governing board.

The Academy recognises the need to take particular measures for vulnerable groups. We will ensure that supply staff and volunteers have access to the same support and procedures as permanent staff. Black and minority ethnic backgrounds who raise concerns might need action over and above to support and protect them. Students and trainees will also be subject to all the principles set out in these procedures. Our primary focus will be embedding standards of practice to empower and protect staff and to enable them to raise concerns freely.

The Academy have chosen to appoint a 'Freedom to Speak Up' Guardian. This person is: Zara Bate. This will help ensure that all staff feel that they have someone to speak to without having to approach a senior leader.

Who is a whistleblower

You're a whistleblower if you're a worker and you report certain types of wrongdoing. This will usually be something you've seen at work - though not always. The wrongdoing you disclose must be in the public interest. This means it must affect others, for example, pupils of the Academy. As a whistleblower you're protected by law - you should not be treated unfairly or lose your job because you 'blow the whistle'. You can raise your concern at any time about an incident that happened in the past, is happening now, or you believe will happen in the near future.

Who is protected by law

You're protected if you're a worker, for example you're:

- an employee, such as a teacher or lunchtime supervisor;
- a trainee, such as a trainee teacher;
- an agency worker, such as supply teacher.

You can get independent advice if you're not sure you're protected, for example from Citizens' Advice. A confidentiality clause or 'gagging clause' in a settlement agreement is not valid if you're a whistleblower.

Complaints that count as whistleblowing

Whistleblowing is the disclosure of information which relates to suspected wrongdoing or dangers at work. You're protected by law if you report any of the following which may include:

- criminal offences, such as fraud or corruption;
- pupils' or staff health and safety being put in danger;
- failure to comply with a legal obligation or statutory requirement (for example, not having appropriate insurance);
- breaches of financial management procedures;
- attempts to cover up the above, or any other wrongdoing in the public interest;
- damage to the environment.

Concerns in education settings may relate to the treatment of children and young people. This could mean, for example, that a person or persons are:

- deliberately ignoring the best interests of the child or young person;
- teasing, harassing or touching a child or young person inappropriately;
- threatening a child, young person or a parent or distressing them in some way;
- neglecting a child by not giving them the support they need, including medical attention or care;
- hitting or restraining a child inappropriately;
- promoting extremist views and/or radicalising a child;
- using a child or young person's money or possessions in an inappropriate way.

Complaints that do not count as whistleblowing

Personal grievances (for example bullying, harassment, discrimination) are not covered by whistleblowing law, unless your particular case is in the public interest. These should be reported using the school's grievance policy.

Who to tell and what to expect

Before initiating the procedure, employees should consider the following:

- the responsibility for expressing concerns about unacceptable practice or behaviour rests with all employees;
- employees should use line manager or team meetings and other opportunities to raise questions and seek clarification on issues which are of day-to-day concern, and
- whilst it can be difficult to raise concerns about the practice or behaviour of a colleague, employees must act to prevent an escalation of the problem and to prevent themselves being potentially implicated.

This policy and procedure should not be used for complaints about an employee's personal circumstances, such as the way s/he has been treated at work. In these cases, an employee should use the Academy's Grievance Procedure.

Where staff have concerns, they should aim to report it internally first before using an external 'prescribed person or body'. Making a report to an external person may only be undertaken where the staff member thinks the Academy will 'cover it up', would treat them unfairly if they complained or have raised the matter before, but the concern hasn't been dealt with. In some instances, it may be appropriate for an employee to ask their trade union to raise a matter on the employee's behalf.

Concerns are better raised in writing. The employee should set out the background and history of the concerns, giving names, dates and places where possible, and the reasons why s/he is particularly concerned about the situation. If an employee does not feel able to put the concern in writing, s/he should telephone or meet the appropriate person. It is important that, however the concern is raised, the employee makes it clear that s/he is raising the issue via the whistle-blowing procedure. The earlier an employee expresses the concern, the easier it is to take action.

Although an employee is not expected to prove the truth of an allegation, s/he will need to demonstrate to the person contacted that there are sufficient grounds for the concern.

Process for reporting

Step 1

You should report your concern to the Headteacher, Claire Whiting, unless you feel they will cover it up, would treat you unfairly if you complained or have raised the matter before, but the concern hasn't been dealt with.

Step 2

You should report your concern to the Chair of the Local Governing Board, who will delegate a Governor to look into the matter, unless you feel they will cover it up, would treat you unfairly if you complained or have raised the matter before, but the concern hasn't been dealt with.

Step 3

You should report your concern to the Local Authority Named Person, Glenn Ashbrooke (LADO) for safeguarding concerns, or allegations against staff (including supply staff and volunteers) and the Chair of the Trustee Board for any other concern, unless you feel they will cover it up, would treat you unfairly if you complained or have raised the matter before, but the concern hasn't been dealt with.

Step 4

You may report your concern to a prescribed person or body, including but not limited to:

Ofsted, call their whistleblowing hotline on 0300 1233155, email whistleblowing@ofsted.gov.uk or write to: WBHL, Ofsted, Piccadilly Gate, Store Street, Manchester, M1 2WD.

NSPCC, call their whistleblowing helpline on 0800 028 0285 or email help@nspcc.org.uk

Children's Commissioner for England, call 020 7783 8330, email info.request@childrenscommissioner.gov.uk or write to: The Office of the Children's Commissioner, Sanctuary Buildings, 20 Great Smith Street, London, SW1P 3BT.

Education Skills and Funding Agency, Ministerial and Public Communications Division, Department for Education, Piccadilly Gate, Store Street, Manchester, M1 2WD.

Alternatively contact the Whistleblowing charity, 'Public Concern at Work' www.pcaaw.org.uk

Step 5

There are other options if you do not want to report your concern to your employer or a prescribed person or body, for example you can get legal advice or contact your MP.

Making your claim anonymously or confidentially

You can tell the identified persons at the Academy, or a prescribed person anonymously but they may not be able to take the claim further if you have not provided all the information they need. You can give your name but request confidentiality - the person or body you tell should make every effort to protect your identity. If you report your concern to the media, in most cases you'll lose your whistleblowing law rights.

What your employer or a prescribed person will do

The Academy or the prescribed person will listen to your concern and decide if any action is needed. You may be asked for further information. You must say straight away if you do not want anyone else to know it was you who raised the concern.

You will not have a say in how your concern is dealt with. The Academy or the prescribed person will keep you informed about the action they've taken, but they cannot give you much detail if they have to keep the confidence of other people.

A prescribed person cannot help you with your relationship with your employer.

If you're not satisfied with how the Academy dealt with your concern tell someone else or a prescribed person or body if you believe your concern was not taken seriously or the wrongdoing is still going on. Contact the Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service (Acas), the whistleblowing charity Protect or your trade union for more guidance.

The role of the Headteacher, Guardian or nominated governor

The Headteacher, Guardian or nominated governor may be informed by an employee about concern(s) and that s/he is "blowing the whistle" within the procedure in person; or in writing or over the phone. Where a concern is reported directly to the Guardian, they should then report it to the Headteacher, nominated governor as appropriate. The Headteacher or nominated governor should respond immediately by arranging to meet with the employee to discuss the concern(s) as soon as possible.

At each meeting under this policy the employee may bring a colleague or trade union representative. The companion must respect the confidentiality of the disclosure and any subsequent investigation.

Stage One:

At the initial meeting the Headteacher or governor should establish that:

- there is genuine cause and sufficient grounds for the concern; and
- the concern has been appropriately raised via the Whistleblowing Policy.

The Headteacher or nominated governor should ask the employee, to put their concern(s) in writing, if s/he has not already done so. If the employee is unable to do this the Headteacher or nominated governor will take down a written summary of his/her concern/s and provide him/her with a copy after the meeting. The Headteacher or nominated governor should make notes of the discussions with the employee. The employee's letter and/or Headteacher's or nominated governor's notes should make it clear that the employee is raising the issue via the Whistleblowing procedure and provide:

- the background and history of the concerns;
- names, dates and places (where possible); and
- the reasons why the employee is particularly concerned about the situation.

The employee should be asked to date and sign their letter and/or the notes of any discussion. The Headteacher or nominated governor should positively encourage the employee to do this, as a concern expressed anonymously is much less powerful and much more difficult to address, especially if the letter/notes later become evidence in other proceedings, e.g. an internal disciplinary hearing.

The Headteacher or nominated governor should follow the policy as set out above and in particular explain to the employee:

- who he/she will need to speak to in order to determine the next steps;
- what steps s/he intends to take to address the concern;
- how s/he will communicate with the employee during and at the end of the process. It should be noted that the need for confidentiality may prevent the school giving the employee specific details of any necessary investigation or any necessary disciplinary action taken as a result;
- that the employee will receive a written response within ten working days;
- that their identity will be protected as far as possible, but should the investigation into the concern require the employee to be named as the source of the information, that this will be discussed with the employee before their name is disclosed;
- that the Local Governing Board, will do all that it can to protect the employee from discrimination and/or victimisation;
- that the matter will be taken seriously and investigated immediately;
- that if the employee's concern, though raised as a genuine concern, is not confirmed by the investigation, no punitive action will be taken against them;
- if clear evidence is uncovered during the investigation that s/he has made a malicious or vexatious allegation, disciplinary action may be taken against them; and
- the investigation may confirm their allegations to be unfounded in which case the Local Governing Board will deem the matter to be concluded unless new evidence becomes available.

Stage Two:

Following the initial meeting with the employee, the Headteacher or nominated governor should consult with the Chair of the Local Governing Board and/or Trustee Board to determine whether an investigation is appropriate and, if so, what form it should take. A record should be made of the decisions and/or agreed actions. It may be necessary, with anonymous allegations, to consider whether it is possible to take any further action. When making this decision, the Headteacher or nominated governor should take the following factors into account:

- the seriousness of the issue(s) raised;
- the credibility of the concern(s); and
- the likelihood of confirming the allegation(s) from attributable sources.

In some cases, it may be possible to resolve the concern(s) simply, by agreed action or an explanation regarding the concern(s), without the need for further investigation. However, depending on the nature of the concern(s) it may be necessary for the concern(s) to:

- be investigated internally;
- be investigated by the local governing board;
- be referred to the police;
- be referred to the external auditor; or
- form the subject of an independent inquiry.

The Headteacher or nominated governor should have a working knowledge and understanding of other Academy policies and procedures, e.g. grievance, disciplinary, harassment, child protection procedures, to ensure that concerns raised by employees are addressed via the appropriate procedure/process.

Stage Three:

Within ten working days of a concern being received, the manager receiving the concern must write to the employee:

- acknowledging that the concern has been received;
- indicating how they propose to deal with the matter;
- giving an estimate of how long it will take to provide a final response; and/or
- telling the employee whether any initial enquiries have been made; and
- telling the employee whether further investigations will take place, and if not why not; and/or
- letting the employee know when s/he will receive further details if the situation is not yet resolved.

Untrue Allegations

If an employee makes an allegation where s/he has a genuine concern, but it is not confirmed by the investigation, no action will be taken against that employee. If, however, we conclude that an employee has made malicious or vexatious allegations, or with a view to personal gain, disciplinary action may be taken against that employee.

Unfounded Allegations

Following investigation, allegations may be confirmed as unfounded. This outcome will be notified to the employee who raised the concern, who will be informed that the Local Governing Board deems the matter to be concluded and that it should not be raised again unless new evidence becomes available.

If you're treated unfairly after whistleblowing

You can take a case to an employment tribunal if you've been treated unfairly because you've blown the whistle. You can get further information from the Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service (Acas), Citizens' Advice, the whistleblowing charity Protect or your trade union.

If you reported your concern anonymously, you may find it harder to argue that your unfair treatment was as a result of your whistleblowing. You must raise any claim of unfair dismissal within three months of your employment ending. You must notify Acas if you want to take your case to an employment tribunal.